Nixon Asks Talk Cease on Religious Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, vowing his best efforts to keep the religious issue out of the presidential race, opens his official campaign today with a major airport rally.
The sendoff comes at Friendship Airport near Baltimore where President Eisenhower, vice-presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge and other Republican leaders meet to cheer Nixon on his way. He takes off in a jet plane on a trip that will lead him through 14 states in six days.
The vow came on television Sunday night as the Republican candidate called for a cutoff date on the discussion of religion.
"I would hope that Sen. Kennedy would reach the same conclusion," Nixon said on the NBC television program (Meet the Press), "because if the two candidates refrain from raising the issue, refrain from discussing it, that means that at least to that extent it won't be in the news."

4,000 Leave Homes on Island In Storm Path

Planes Evacuated From Bases; Extra Police Called Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Donna picked up speed today as it headed northeast toward New York and Long Island. Gale force winds, high tides and heavy rain were expected in the nation's largest city.
The Weather Bureau said the city already was beginning to feel "what may be a fringe" of the hurricane.
The hurricane was expected over the eastern end of Long Island about noon. Already more than 4,000 residents of Fire Island off Long Island had been evacuated by the Coast Guard.

Carried Torrential Rains
The storm carried torrential rains and bristling 115 m.p.h. winds. Storm warnings were hoisted from the Carolinas north through New York to Portsmouth, N.H.

Storm shutters and sandbags were thrown up in southern New England. Tides up to 12 and 14 feet above normal were expected in upper Buzzards Bay on Cape Cod.

Rhode Island schools were closed and the National Guard was on standby alert.
Planes were evacuated from Mitchell Air Force Base on Long Island and from Bradley Air Force Base near Hartford, Conn.
In New York City, winds up to 75 miles an hour and tides eight to ten feet above normal were expected. Police headquarters ordered extra men to duty.

1,000 Still on Island
The Coast Guard used 15 ships to take residents off Fire Island, a narrow strip of land lying off the southern Long Island coast. Another 1,000 residents were still on the island, but in no immediate danger.

Donna, lashing out in the same fashion that carried her from the Caribbean to the Florida peninsula and then northward along the Atlantic Coast, raced into the North Carolina mainland shortly before midnight Sunday night.
By 5 a.m. today the Weather Bureau placed its center about 60 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

Winds gusts of up to 100 miles an hour were reported by the Chesapeake lightship 17 miles off Cape Henry, Va.
As the storm moved out to sea off the Virginia Capes, the Tidewater Virginia area appeared to have suffered only slight damage. Civil Defense officials in Norfolk said gale winds knocked down signs and other loose objects and shattered a few windows but that flooding conditions were no worse than during a bad northeasterly storm.

Only one injury was reported, a woman who suffered facial cuts when a tree branch broke the windshield of her car.
Public transportation was ruled out in Norfolk and nearby Portsmouth.

Pittsburgh Driver Injured In Mishap

A 36-year-old Pittsburgh man was admitted to Salem City Hospital Sunday night with a possible broken jaw he received when his car went out of control on Rt. 30 southeast of Lisbon and ran into a ditch. He is reported in fairly good condition.
State highway patrolmen at the Lisbon post said the man, William T. Brown, was driving northwest at 10:30 when he and another motorist attempted to pass a third vehicle about a mile southeast of Lisbon.

After pulling out, the two drivers spotted a southwest bound car and attempted to pull back into the right hand lane. The second car, whose driver is unknown, made it back into the right lane, but Brown was forced to go off the left berm, patrolmen said. His car traveled about 213 feet in a ditch before coming to a stop.
Patrolmen charged him with attempting to pass without the assured clear distance ahead.

Difficulties Mount For Congo Premier

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Difficulties mounted in the path of Patrice Lumumba today as he clung grimly to his prime minister's job.
U.N. troops at gun point thwarted Lumumba's desperate attempt to seize control of the Leopoldville radio station Sunday. It was a blow to his prestige and pride.
Lumumba Delegates Stopped
Across the Congo River in Brazzaville, African officials of the former French Congo colony stopped two Lumumba delegates from transferring from a U.N. plane to a commercial airliner that was to take them to New York. They planned to present Lumumba's case before the Security Council.
The officials were Thomas Hanza, the Congo's minister to the United Nations, and Jacques Lumumba, a left winger who has the title of secretary of state for the presidency.

Returned To Leopoldville
Both were returned to Leopoldville while another delegation sent by President Joseph Kasavubu was flying to New York. Kasavubu asked the United Nations to consider his delegation headed by Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko as representing "the legal government" of the Congo.
Toward the end of what was one of the most trying days in Lumumba's career, Congolese army commander Gen. Victor Lundula led 80 soldiers to the Leopoldville airport where he of-

U.N. Fight Shapes Up On Congo Delegations

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council lined up today for a possible fight on the neighboring Republic of the Congo, a former French colony, prevented the Lumumba delegation from boarding a plane in his capital of Brazzaville, while permitting the Kasavubu delegation to proceed to New York. Airports in the Congo have been closed by the U.N. except to U.N. traffic.

Diplomats generally expected the Soviet Union would object to the 11-nation council hearing Kasavubu's representatives. Some speculated that if this happened the United States would object to its hearing Lumumba's people.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold disclosed that U.N. representatives were talking with Lumumba about his demand the U.N. give up control of the Leopoldville radio station.

Hammarskjold gave council members a report from his personal ambassador in Leopoldville, Rajeshwar Dayal of India, who said Lumumba tried twice Sunday to seize the station.

Dayal said Lumumba's action was "particularly regrettable" since he and Lumumba had begun discussions Saturday on the fate of the radio station and Lumumba had agreed not to try to seize the installation.

Troops of the 16,000-men U.N. force took over and closed the Leopoldville broadcasting station a week ago to keep Lumumba and Kasavubu from using it to incite their factions to civil war.

Kasavubu has named Joseph Ileo, the Senate president, as premier to succeed Lumumba. But Lumumba does not recognize he has been dismissed.

Hammarskjold told the council Friday night the Congo constitution entitled the president to fire the premier but did not entitle the premier to fire the president. However, he said U.N. representatives were under instructions to back neither Kasavubu nor Lumumba.

Fire Razes Garage; Loss Set at $3,000

WEST POINT Fire in a garage belonging to Archie Beaver, Lisbon Rd. 2, Saturday caused an estimated $3,000 loss, according to the owner.
West Point volunteer firemen responded to the alarm at 6 and were able to save a house 15 feet from the burning structure. The garage was a total loss. Tools and over 200 bales of hay inside also were destroyed.
Spontaneous combustion was believed the cause of the fire. The loss was not covered by any insurance, Beaver said.

Restoration Of Service Begins Tuesday

Union 'Delighted' With Settlement; PRR 'Satisfied'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A pre-dawn settlement, hammered out after near 15 hours of peace talks, today ended the 12-day-old strike that had stopped the Pennsylvania Railroad for the first time in 114 years.

Leaders of the 20,000 strikers, members of two non-operating unions, said they were delighted with the agreement, ending a dispute over work rules and job security that began in mid-1957. Wages were not an issue.

Call Settlement Satisfactory
PRR spokesmen said the settlement was satisfactory.
No trains will operate today on America's biggest railroad that connects 10,000 miles of track in 13 states and the District of Columbia.

The Pennsy said service "will be partially restored" by Tuesday morning, emphasizing that restoration must proceed "in progressive steps to assure complete safety and reliability of operation."

The two unions involved are the Transport Workers, representing 15,000, and the System Federation, with 5,000. Their members are car inspectors, oilers, pipefitters, car cleaners, steamfitters and laborers.

Primarily, they are responsible for the safety of equipment, and for maintenance of PRR property. Many TWU members, principally in the huge Pennsy shops at Altoona, Pa., build and repair freight cars.

Prime Movers In Agreement

Prime movers in the eventual agreement were Philadelphia's Mayor Richardson Dilworth and Francis O'Neill Jr., chairman of the Federal (Railway) Mediation Board.
O'Neill brought both sides together before noon Sunday and kept them bargaining continuously, except for lunch and dinner, until the settlement shortly before 3 a.m.

Michael J. Quill, fiery TWU president who had blamed the PRR for the negotiations impasse, said he was "delighted with the agreement. He said it was reached

Miss America To Attend Michigan State

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Nancy Anne Fleming, Miss America 1961, an "A" student while in high school, says she'll use the $10,000 scholarship she won to attend Michigan State University.

Before leaving for New York, a radiant Nancy, who is from Montague, Mich., told newsmen she hopes to become a fashion writer—a logical aim for a girl who likes sewing and writing.

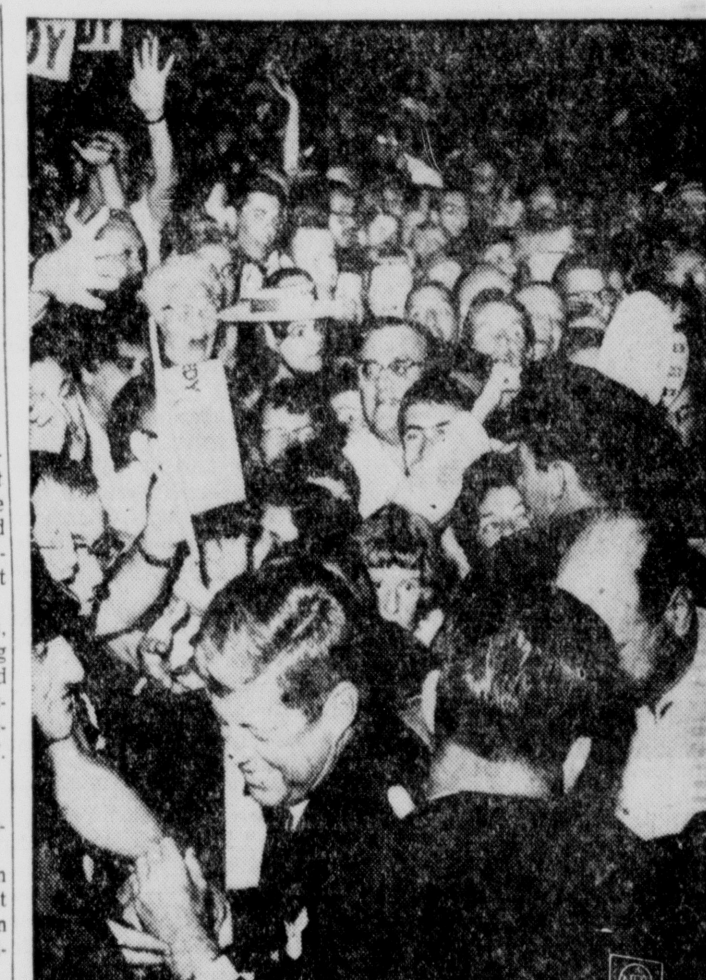

A year of travel, fame and fortune awaits the 18-year-old beauty, who Saturday night succeeded Lynda Lee Mead of Natchez, Miss., as queen of the nation's oldest beauty and talent pageant.

Nancy, who has no steady beau, says she wants to get married eventually, and feels that as a fashion writer she'll be able to combine marriage with her career.
Her measurements are 35-22-35. She is 5 feet 6 and weighs 116 pounds.

Second in the contest was Suzanne Reams, Miss California. She receives a $3,000 scholarship. Third-place Ann Herring, Miss North Carolina got $2,500. Fourth, Ruth Rea, Miss District of Columbia, received $2,000. Miss Indiana, Tommy Glaze, fifth, got $1,500.

Citrus Crop Hard Hit

Florida Storm Damage In Hundreds of Millions

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Donna hit the Florida Keys and then roared in a great arc through the center of the state, leaving a path of vast destruction.
Damage to homes, highways, communications lines, trailers, boats and business buildings, trees and shrubbery will run into hundreds of millions of dollars.

The state's $250 million citrus crop was hard hit, with the loss in some areas estimated at 50 to 80 per cent.
Here is an area-by-area roundup of damage as compiled by The Associated Press:

Key West — The city's fresh water supply line from the Florida mainland was severed but a 10-day supply was on hand. Repairs to the line will be rushed. Power lines were down and telephone service to the mainland was virtually out. Only transportation from the city was by air or boat. Winds caused moderate damage.

7 Flee Prison At Marion, 1 Captured

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Six of seven inmates who escaped Sunday night from the Marion Correctional Institution were at large today.

The Highway Patrol reported the capture of Louis Brown 26, of Bloomville, Seneca County, one of the seven, in the Marion area early today. The prisoners had cut a hole in a fence to make their escape from the medium security prison.

Prison officials identified them as:
Nathan Argento, 27, of Cleveland, sentenced for auto theft; Calvin Samples, 26, of Canton, grand larceny; Edgar Chism, 21, of Newark, forgery; Louis Brown, 26, of Bloomville, Seneca County, breaking and entering; Paul D. Willis, 25, of Ironton, burglary; Robert L. Grover, 33, of New Philadelphia, grand larceny; and Lynn Biddle, 25, of Helena, andusky County, burglary.

The escape apparently occurred between 7:40 p.m. and 10 p.m. when head counts were taken. Officials said all inmates were accounted for at 7:40 but the seven were missed at the 10 o'clock check.

They climbed out of a ground floor shower room window and made their way to the south fence. Officials said that from the looks of the hole in the fence it appeared that wire cutters had been used.

All seven were believed to be wearing blue-denim prison overalls with either blue prison shirts, sport shirts or T-shirts.
The Marion County sheriff's department, Ohio Highway Patrol and Marion city police launched a search for the fugitives.

It was the first organized break at the prison—located just northeast of Marion—in at least two years.

Prisoners sent there ordinarily have good behavior records.

Campaigns In Texas Today

Kennedy to Answer Attacks Launched on Religious Issue

WITH KENNEDY (AP) — De-termined to answer any attacks aimed at his Catholic religion, Sen. John F. Kennedy air hopped across Texas today in a double-barrelled campaigning with his ticket mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

In an appearance before the Houston Ministerial Association tonight, the Democratic presidential nominee grapples with the religious issue—one that some Democratic leaders believe is endangering his chances of winning Texas' important 24 electoral votes.

How seriously this may affect the outcome in a state that President Eisenhower carried in the last two elections was outlined by Johnson who told a reporter: "Religion is the only issue the Republicans have in Texas. It's bad but we don't think it will prevail."

Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, said recent statewide polls have shown Kennedy ahead of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his Republican opponent. But Johnson said at least 12 per cent of the voters were listed as undecided.

Kennedy refused to let himself get fenced in with a suggestion from Nixon that both candidates agree on a cut-off date after which neither would discuss the religious issue.

It was the view of the Democratic nominee's associates that Nixon, a Quaker, could well afford to say he will not discuss religion, since he is not under fire on the score.

But they said Kennedy could hardly say he will not answer attacks made on him as a Catholic. They particularly fear scurrilous charges may be leveled against him in the final hours before the voters go to the polls on Nov. 8.

Nixon told a national television audience — NBC — "Meet the Press" — Sunday night he has no doubts whatever about Kennedy's loyalty to the country or that he will put the Constitution above any other standard if he is elected president.

The vice president said it would be "tragic for this election to be determined primarily or even substantially on religious grounds." Kennedy obviously agreed with this.

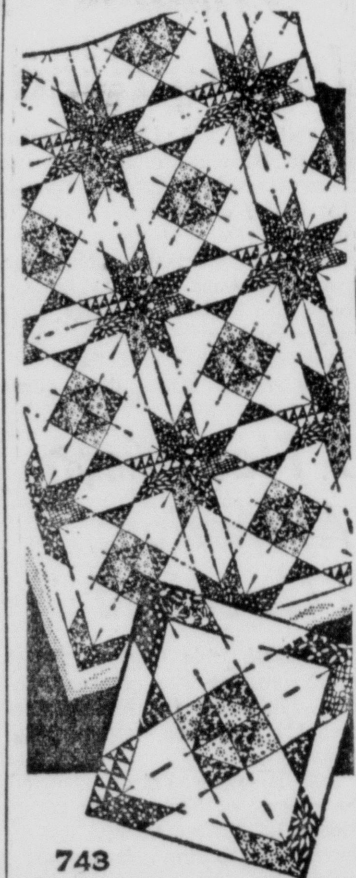

In a carefully worded statement in reply to Nixon, Kennedy said: "I wish we could cut off debate on this subject right now. I think we'd all be better off. How can we possibly improve on the Constitution?"

Kennedy has noted frequently that the constitution provides there shall be no religious test for holding office.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Time really does go faster as you grow older. Studies show time passes five times as swiftly for a man of 65 as for a teen-ager, except when the man of 65 is waiting for the teen-ager to get off the telephone.

The good old days: Postage was high back in 1880. It cost six cents to send a one-sheet letter 60 miles. On the other hand, you could buy a full-course dinner for 12 cents.

Science is mushrooming at such a rate that the world's knowledge now doubles every nine years. And 90 per cent of all the trained scientists who ever lived are alive right now.

Our quotable notables: "When a man knows how to live dangerously, he is not afraid to die," says Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. "When he is not afraid to die, he is, strangely, free to live."

Which are smarter, cats or dogs? They are rated about equal in intelligence, but cats score better on tests involving vision because they have better eyesight than dogs.

Some dogs can understand up to 350 words. My cat responds to only three words: here, kitty and scat.

Memo to Harry S. Truman: Did you know that if Richard Milhous Nixon is elected, we'll have another piano player in the White House.

The population explosion: In 1900 the world had 10 cities with a million or more population. Now there are 61 such cities.

Odd superstition: In the British Isles it was once thought a bride and bridegroom could stave off unhappiness for a year if they shared a piece of bacon after the wedding ceremony.

Leprosy, a disease now known to be less contagious than tuberculosis, still afflicts 12 million people throughout the world. In the Middle Ages its victims were cast out of society with these dread words: "Dead to the world henceforth, now place your hope in God."

It was Martial who observed, "The good man prolongs his life; to be able to enjoy one's past life is to live twice."

Painting Projects Coming Up? Here Are Some Good Tips

Which will you use the next time you paint—a brush, roller or spray gun? No one of them will do every painting job equally well, although in a practiced hand the brush is mighty versatile.

The brush is the oldest of the three, can be used on most any surface. You'll need more than one brush for any job you tackle. Figure on a four-inch brush (for most broad surfaces) and a smaller trim brush. The trim brush is the only tool to use on narrow surfaces, along edges and around windows.

While the brush can be used on most surfaces the spray gun and roller are faster on some, less likely to be damaged.

Painting brick can ruin a good brush, and using a brush on serrated shingles can be time consuming.

Conditioning

Condition a brush before you use it by soaking it in linseed oil for 24 hours. Squeeze out the oil, rinse the brush in turpentine and then allow to dry. When you paint keep the paint away from the heel. Paint belongs only on the lower end of the bristles, and not more than halfway up.

Brush paint on with the grain, using long strokes and lifting the brush at the end of each. Start at the top and work down. But paint all the way across before starting the area below to avoid lap marks.

Cleaning Brushes

When you've finished, clean the brush in the same solvent which serves as a thinner for the paint you used—turpentine for oil paint, alcohol for shellac, water for latex paint. Wash the brush again in soap and water, comb the bristles straight and allow to dry. Wrap in paper to hold the shape and to keep clean.

Rollers

Rollers call for the least amount of skill, are relatively inexpensive, should be used on broad, open surfaces. On a textured surface—brick, stucco, concrete—use a deep nap roller.

Paint is applied by dipping the roller in a shallow pan of paint, rolling off the excess on a bare part of the pan and then applying the roller to the surface to be painted.

Roll with the grain, then across and then lightly with the grain again. Use a light, even pressure. Don't permit the roller to spin at the end of a stroke or you will spatter the paint.

Clean the roller in the proper solvent and then with soap and water. After it has dried wrap in foil or newspaper. If you fail to clean a roller soon after you've finished using it you're likely to throw it away—it's difficult to reclaim.

Spray Gun

Using a sprayer—whether it's a pressure can, glass jar or heavy duty compressor—calls for skill and practice for even passable jobs. Check the manufacturer's instructions for proper thinning of the paint.

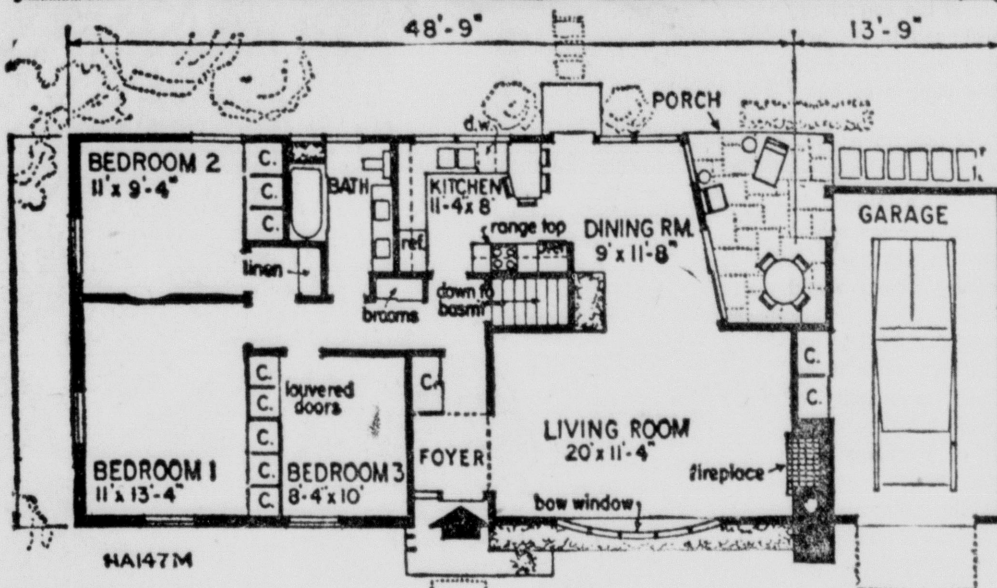

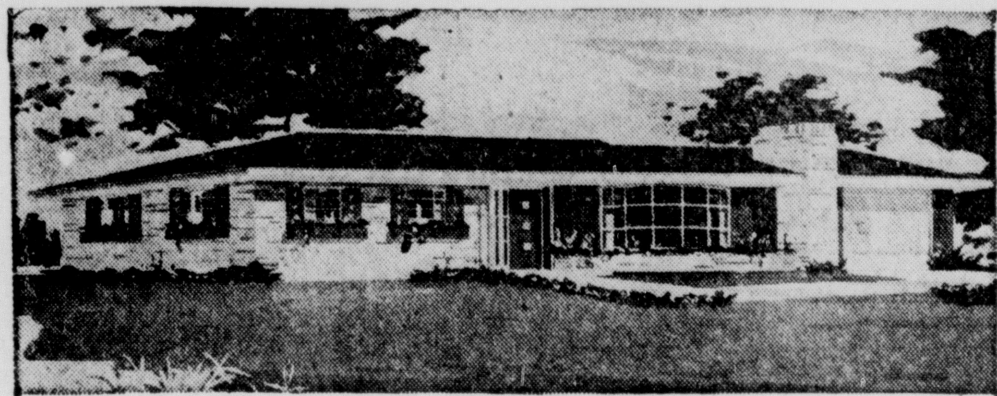

Hold the spray gun at right angles to the surface, about six to 10 inches away. Move the gun parallel to the surface.

Begin the stroke, then pull the trigger. Move in a straight line. Moving in an arc will cause an uneven application. If you hold the gun too close the paint will run, too far and the paint will be spotty.

Outdoors, avoid painting on a windy day. Indoors, have plenty of ventilation and keep surfaces covered that are not to be painted.

Mask Area

A spray gun is excellent for new unpainted wood shingles, serrated asbestos shingles, masonry. It's also good on metal where a hard, shiny surface minus brush stroke is required. But you'll have to mask and protect surrounding surfaces.

High Cost of Land for Home Construction Hit by Builders

If asked the most serious problem faced by home builders, most persons probably would answer: the securing of adequate financing from lending institutions.

The builders themselves have a different reply. They say their biggest problem is acquiring at reasonable prices, land desirably located. They say there is no actual scarcity of land for the building of houses, but that much of the best is priced so high that it is bypassed for sites farther removed from suitable facilities.

AS POINTED OUT IN House and Home, the housing industry trade publication, countless acres are being held in "cold storage" by land speculators, hoping for still higher prices tomorrow than their land would bring today. Quoting the consensus of builders, economists, mortgage lenders, realtors and manufacturers questioned in a nationwide survey, the publication feels the only way land price inflation can be prevented is to tax land more heavily.

We discussed this subject the other day with Gerald D. Lloyd, who heads a company that devotes itself exclusively to land acquisition and the development for sales in the form of finished lots to builders. Lloyd also is chairman of the Planning and Zoning Committee of the Builders Institute of Westchester and Putnam Counties in New York State.

ON THE QUESTION OF inflated land prices, Lloyd said:

"The inflated land prices are to a very large extent fictitious, in the sense that the asking prices are very seldom the prices at which business is actually done. In our experience, the business is often done at less than half the asking price. Yet the asking price is the one that makes the news."

Lloyd pointed out that, as far as land development is concerned, the builder has had to take over increasingly the functions of the municipalities in providing the community facilities. He said the development cost is infinitely higher as a rule than the land cost, which increases the price of the finished house.

IN SOME CASES, Lloyd said, high land values resulted from the willingness of builders to pay unreasonable prices "for the little bit of reasonable zoning that's around."

warp and rot. It also will make mortar crumble from between bricks, nails rust and concrete crack.

WHERE DOES THIS MOISTURE come from? Studies at Purdue University show that a family of four can generate as much as 6½ gallons of moisture in the form of water vapor merely by going through the routine of living in a modern home.

Breathing and perspiring release 1½ gallons in 24 hours. Doing the family laundry can add another gallon—and drying it indoors on a clothesline or unvented dryer can contribute 3½ more gallons. A shower adds half a pint of vapor to the air each time it's used. Cooking three meals a day contributes five pints more, with another pint coming from washing dishes.

HOW DO WE PREVENT the water vapor from entering the walls and doing damage? By interposing a barrier, called a vapor barrier, between the moisture and the materials that it affects. One type of barrier consists of a sheeting of some kind across the inner surface of the exterior walls when the house is being built. This sheeting can be asphalt-impregnated and surface-coated glossy sheathing paper, aluminum foil, wall linoleum, glossy surface-coated cloth and certain plastic sheetings. The other type of barrier consists of the proper kind of paint applied to the walls of the rooms themselves.

IN A NEW HOME, this has the advantage of being applied after all the other crafts have finished their work. A second advantage is that a paint barrier is comparatively inexpensive. In completed homes that have been built without a vapor barrier, it is the only feasible method of providing one.

As for the kind of paint to use, the scientific section of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Assn. says that gloss paints, oil-based primer sealers and varnishes are all good vapor barriers.

They would be followed by whatever top coat the home owner desires. In an older house, a coat of primer-sealer would be applied over existing flat paint or over tight wallpaper. It is important that, when the painting is being done with an eye on the vapor problem, that the insides of closets, cabinets and other spaces against exterior walls also be painted.

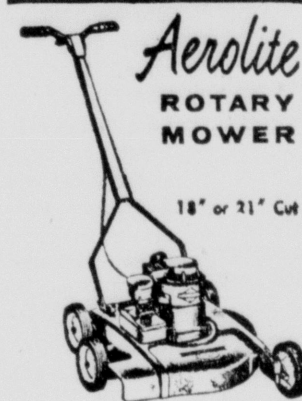

EVEN WHEN THE WALLS ARE vapor-tight, there are other things that can be done to insure a complete victory over moisture. Clothes dryers should be vented to the outside. After showering or mopping, the bathroom window should be opened a little until the moisture is dissipated. An exhaust fan in the kitchen will get rid of moisture as well as cooking odors. Attics should be ventilated with louvers of the proper size. And, if there is a fireplace, opening the damper from time to time will let moisture escape from the house.

Some authorities advise supplementing these steps by inserting vents into the outer walls to relieve the pressure built up by the moisture trapped between the walls.

Moisture One of Greatest Causes of Damage to Homes

You can insure your home against almost everything that threatens it except the one thing that causes more damage than fire, flood or storm—the fifth column of moisture created within the house just by living in it. The most immediately visible effect of this moisture is the blistering, cracking and peeling of paint on the exterior of the house. In fact, scientists blame 90 per cent of exterior paint failures on water from indoors. The long-range effects are most serious. When an interior moisture problem is neglected for a considerable period of time, it eventually will cause plaster and joists, studs and sills to swell.

Antidote for Red, White and Blues

United States Steel Corp's decision to put Lowell Thomas to work to tell Americans how their country is growing is a good stroke of institutional advertising.

Other enterprises have done similar things to remind their customers, both present and potential, that this is a growing country and therefore a good one to invest in, but this move at this time by the largest of the steel-making combines has special meaning.

The United States is showing symptoms of economic hypochondria. It needs an antidote for the red, white and blues that are being moaned and groaned by a chorus of calamity howlers.

It would be easy for a careless or inattentive citizen to get the impression the dam had burst upstream and everybody should run for the hills.

THERE ARE people around who are saying all is lost in Detroit, although the people up there have been having their second best year.

It isn't hard to round up a friend or two who has been so busy looking on the seamy side of the cloth he has forgotten what the other side looks like. That's the side Americans used to look at first.

Americans are getting into the habit of crying with a loaf of bread under their arms. They want Santa Claus to drive up in eight tiny sports cars with glove-leather upholstery.

They take seriously every Dismal Dan who wants to show them a fresh scab or complain about the service at the unemployment office. But when some local citizen asks for time to say a few words about wealth-producing additions to the community they tell him and his bushy tail to get lost. They accuse him of being overenthusiastic.

Well, there's always the danger of being too enthusiastic.

But it isn't the clear and present danger. The clear and present danger is that too many people with too strong an interest in fudging facts about the United States might talk Americans into acute hypochondria—a state so bad their imaginary illness would turn into something serious.

U. S. STEEL probably didn't intend to get into the 1960 national campaign when it decided to use the voice and personality of Lowell Thomas to remind Americans of what there is to be proud of. Its plans have been in the making a long time.

But it happens that the plans have materialized when a considerable number of prominent and well-to-do Americans are making a special point of telling other Americans how miserable, poverty-stricken and devoid of hope they should be.

It's like that campaign of some years back when the thing was to say that one third of us were ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed.

For a while, people believed it—until it began to cross the minds of the smarter ones that everybody they knew thought he was ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed. That was a sample of economic hypochondria in a political campaign.

It's good to know that something will be done to offset it in 1960 if a new generation of calamity-howling multi-millionaires intends to reduce us all to misery by the power of suggestion.

Events For a Future Olympics

Avery Brundage, International Olympic president, laid it on the line for United States athletes in a speech to the American Club of Rome last Thursday.

U.S. athletes are outclassed in half the events on the Olympics program, he said. The United States is saved from being a second-class nation in Olympic competition only by its great Negro athletes. Life in this country is too soft.

Nevertheless, there are things Americans do routinely that would stagger even the hardy musclemen who do or die for dear old Russia. We aren't much for parallel bars, marathon running and steeple-chasing, but who would like to compete against us in dark-to-dawn pub-crawling, cross-country motoring and doll-chasing?

The pentathlon and the javelin throw are not our dish, but give us a chance to show what we can do with the Pentagon mill-around and log-rolling, which are homegrown Yankee Doodle accomplishments.

Or let us draw a bye in the running hop, step and jump, in which Americans have been at a disadvantage since Myer Prinstein won for this country in 1900 and 1904, and set up a new category for the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo—the hot-rod acceleration contest from a standing start with fuel injector.

Give us a crack at the things we do best, like late income-tax filing, free-style grooming, apple-polishing, petition-signing and law-passing and we'll make these Olympic hold-overs from the spirit of ancient Greece whimper for mercy.

And we haven't even referred to our remarkable prowess in the pressure block, the elbow in the ribs, the knife in the back, or wheeling and dealing, mouse-trapping and sucker-baiting.

Let's not concede a thing about U.S. prowess until we've brought the Olympic Games up to date. There isn't a single event in them that represents the American way. All that running, jumping, grunting and thrashing around may have been great stuff centuries ago, but it's as alien to American habits as running two miles and jumping into a creek before breakfast.

Craziness Helps a Lot

It is not necessary for all of us to believe that one or both of the National Security Agency employees who defected to Russia must have been crazy.

Those who always react to the shock of traitorous behavior by ysnorting that the traitors were crazy are looking for a too-simple explanation.

They are like those gullible souls who believe every murderer must have been crazy, because that is the defense his lawyer falls back on to get him off free. Some murderers are crazy. Other murderers are as sane as executioners. They just happen to have made an occupation of destroying life.

IT IS NOT necessary to be crazy to be taken in by the Communists' confidence game. It helps to be crazy, no doubt about it, but sane people can be hooked, too.

The physicist Robert J. Oppenheimer was hooked, and he wasn't crazy.

There are U.S. labor leaders who have felt enthusiastic about the way the Russians do things, and they're no crazier than foxes. What's required for conversion to communist is a glutton's capacity for believing the best about Russia and the worst about the United States. The ideal defector to Russia thinks the grass on the other side of the Iron Curtain is greener.

Both in the statement they left behind them and in the statement they issued in Moscow, the two NSA defectors are hypercritical of the United States and blindly enthusiastic about the Soviet Union.

They are unable to condone intelligence and counter-intelligence activities by the U.S. government, but they think the U.S.S.R. government is above countering.

They are unable to feel good about the fact 40 per cent of the work force in this country is women employed in all branches of activity, but they think it is wonderful because women in Russia are permitted to work, though often at menial tasks like street-cleaning.

They resent technological unemployment in the United States, where mechanization is in Russia this consequence is unknown. But they do not say that in Russia industrialism has been mechanized only since World War II and technological unemployment is still to be experienced.

IN ONE REALLY remarkable passage of the declaration they left behind them, they sum up their bill of complaints against the United States by saying: "These activities indicate to us that the United States government is as unscrupulous as it has accused the Soviet government of being."

Therefore, giving the Soviet government the benefit of every doubt, they fled to Russia and paid for their Russian citizenship by letting themselves be used as public converts.

A convert to Communism doesn't have to be crazy, but it certainly helps when the time comes to tell how heavenly it is in brand-new Russia and how hellish it was back in the mean old U.S.A.

All Guns Are Loaded

The tragic death of David Gearin, 17-year-old Sallenville youth in a pre-hunting accident Friday, focuses attention again on the importance of the proper handling of firearms.

"Handle every gun as if it were loaded!" That's the admonition given to teenagers who take advantage of the hunter safety course offered from time to time by the Salem Hunt Club. "Never point a gun at anything unless you want to kill it" is also sound advice.

And, with squirrel season opening today in Ohio, the advice is very timely.

Hard-Working Committee

The Advance Gifts Committee of the Salem Community Chest was hard at work today to obtain early cash and pledges for the city's united appeal campaign which will open three weeks hence.

Most of these team members are busy business executives who take time from their normal duties to work on behalf of an organization that keeps some 11 Community Chest agencies functioning the year 'round.

These executives are the unsung heroes of each Chest drive. They seek no glory as they shoulder their civic responsibility but they do seek your participation as a donor to make the campaign a success.

It's Football Again

If the first game is the hardest, the Salem High School Quakers ought to have a good football season this fall.

The Quakers won their opener 7 to 0 over Akron Hoban Friday night, beginning the season a week earlier than usual to accommodate a schedule of 10 games.

Coach Blaine Morton, in his first year as head coach, had a good crowd of faithful fans to root the team on but cooler weather from now on will pack the stadium and help the players too.

Job With A Limited Future

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

The other day I chatted about unions and many things and the Pennsylvania Railroad strike with the spokesman for 20,000 business firms. He is Charles Sligh, executive vice president and operating staff chief of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.

"This country," he said quite strongly, "cannot tolerate having two kinds of justice—one for unions and one for everyone else."

Mr. Sligh then recalled that this summer I had interviewed Arthur Goldberg, labor's most brilliant attorney.

The lawyer, who I believe some day will sit on the Supreme Court, had said that some of those who criticize labor "have always opposed the existence of effective trade unions and . . . have seized upon the element of bigness as merely the latest in a series propaganda weapons."

SINCE "EQUAL TIME" is in the air, I thought of "equal space" for Mr. Sligh if he cared to put his point of view on the line.

He did. It's a strong point of view. Here it is:

"It should be obvious to all," said Mr. Sligh, "that in our society certain functions can be performed best by large organizations—large labor unions, large corporations, large research organizations, large educational institutions."

"Most of the critics of labor unions or of corporations do not object to bigness" as such. Their concern is whether this leads to a position of monopoly power.

Looking Backward

5 YEARS AGO — The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Camp was the starting point of a hayride enjoyed by members of the Presbyterian Mr. and Mrs. Club Friday.

10 YEARS AGO — John Cabas who tutored Columbiana Clippers basketball teams to the state finals in 1945 and 1947, has been appointed Salem High Cage coach.

25 YEARS AGO — Atty. Lozier Caplan, president of the newly-formed Young Republican Club of Salem, has announced plans for the first in a series of campaign rallies Tuesday.

40 YEARS AGO — Little R Club members will hold a wiener roast at the home of Misses Alice and Gertrude Ringnell.

Matter of Fact

When a doctor taps your chest he is doing something like tapping a keg. Actually, it was the tapping of wine casks that inspired this medical technique. An 18th century innkeeper's son, Leopold Auenbrugger, early learn to tell how much wine was in a cask by tapping its end. As a doctor, Auenbrugger used the same method on patients to discover chest fluids, size of heart, and disease processes.

Security Loopholes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Investigation of U.S. Employees, Applicants Lax

Congressional investigating committees may be able to uncover in detail the weaknesses in the government's security check up system, but it is already clear what the real trouble is. The t r a i t o r i o u s behavior o f Messrs. Mitchell and Martin, employees of the National Security Agency who defected to the Soviet Union, might have been discovered in advance if there had been a fixing of responsibility for detecting security aberrations after an employee is once hired.

The general public, for instance, thinks that the Federal Bureau of Investigation is the agency which has everything to do with national security.

The truth is the FBI a few years ago found the burden was too great, and said it would prefer that the executive departments do their own checking of applicants in the first instance, so as to enable the FBI to concentrate on actual violations of internal security.

So today the Civil Service Commission does most of the checking of applicants for all departments except the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency.

Nearly every department, including the Atomic Energy Commission, also has a security set-up of its own. The FBI checks only the presidential appointees and high officials.

With the many thousands of applicants to be investigated every year, the task of checking is stupendous.

THE REAL difficulty is that, once the employees are hired, there is no comprehensive system of surveillance. It costs too much in time and money to do such a job with all government employees.

So the only logical thing now is to arrange for some machinery to carry on a checking operation in particular cases after employees in certain sensitive agencies are hired.

Thus, for instance, one of the two defectors in the National Security Agency had a court record of at least three courts martial in the U.S. Navy. There was a report in the files on it by the Office of Naval Intelligence. Why wasn't this a signal for a more intensive investigation later on by the security office of the National Security Agency?

There was a record, too, of a statement by a psychiatrist who told National Security Agency investigators that one of the young men had "deep-seated homosexual tendencies." The information came after he had been hired.

This should have been a danger signal, since it is known that Soviet agents mingle frequently with all homosexual groups that gather in particular restaurants and night clubs in this country.

The purpose is to find out just where any of them are employed, in the hope of developing contacts valuable for espionage purposes. This is an old technique and well known all over the world in intelligence circles.

IT MAY HAVE been, of course, that whoever had the responsibility for hiring the two former sailors was so impressed by their mathematical abilities that all derogatory reports were regarded as of secondary importance.

But now some valuable code-breaking devices of the American government have been handed over to the Soviets by Mitchell and Martin.

This should teach a lesson for the future, and it is a safe bet that what the congressional committees uncover in their closed-door sessions with the representatives of some of the important agencies of the government will be very useful hereafter in preventing similar episodes.

It is important, too, that various laws dealing with the problems of internal security and passports be strengthened. While it is natural for some of the so-called "liberals" already to begin warning that there must not be "any revival of McCarthyism," it is more important that those who have smoke-screen to block needed legislation on security matters give way and let the necessary laws be passed.

Members of Congress themselves also have been lax. It seems incredible that Mitchell and Martin should have contacted a congressman without arousing suspicion as to irregularities involved.

It doesn't seem possible, for instance, that two minor employees of a hush-hush agency could call on a congressman without causing him to check with their superiors to find out why they were coming to Capitol Hill to talk about such important matters as secret plane flights over Russia.

But lots of people take things for granted when they see what appear to be legitimate credentials of investigators, and, to be sure, mistakes in judgment like this have occurred before.

THE WHOLE BUSINESS is tragic, including the anguish of the parents of the two defectors who have been trying for weeks to find out in Washington what happened to their sons.

Unfortunately, the young men in recent years did not stay close to their parents and preferred to remain recluses.

It is a sad story all the way through but whatever damage the young men did on code operations is certainly not irreparable. Codes can be changed and devices can be altered in the espionage game.

The most constructive result will be a better checking-up process. This President Eisenhower has already instituted. With the help of Congress, there should be substantial progress from now on in handling the vexatious problem.

We The People

By TRUMAN TWILL

The poor dumb people in this country get blamed for everything. But it's going too far to blame them for automobile styling.

That's the pitch this fall—to say that we the people—the poor dumb people—have told the auto manufacturers what we want and they are going to give it to us.

We didn't have any more to do with it than we have to do with foreign policy, which we also get blamed for.

No one consulted us any more than they consulted us about spending billions of our dollars on ingrates abroad who would just as soon cut our throats as take our money.

The people take no greater part in decisions about auto styling than they take in decisions about piling up bureaucracy in Washington and IOUs in the U.S. Treasury.

They blame us for everything—traffic accidents, juvenile delinquency, litter on the streets, suburban sprawl and urban blight.

They point their fingers at us over inflation, deflation, credit buying and penny hoarding. They accuse us when the birth rate is high and look down their noses at us when the birth rate is low.

They blame us for faulty posture, inability to read, failure to vote and lack of attention to the issues of the day.

We're sick of it.

We refuse to accept responsibility for things we never were consulted about. We never even saw the pollsters who are always purporting to reflect what we think.

Congressmen never walk up on our porches and say, "Charley, what do you think I ought to do about this and so?"

So They Say

You have to take a long hard look all over the country to find any Democratic papers. — Rep. Randall Harman (D-Ind.), introducing bill to require newspapers to give equal space to all candidates.

All I can say is that this fellow Kennedy never seems to run out of luck. He is very fortunate to have a man like (Teamsters boss James) Hoffa condemning him. — George Meany of AFL-CIO.

Attendance figures are not available because there is no admission fee, but other totals counted by the Legionnaires at the end of the three-day evening showed all concession booths, ticket sales and amusements did a record business.

Harry Lundgren, fair secretary, reports work has already started for the Diamond Jubilee Fair to be staged in 1961. Committees are planning on reviving some of the attractions which prevailed at the earliest fairs back before the turn of the century.

Skyway Tavern Leads 4 Clubs Into Softball Finals Here

Youngstown Team Is Unbeaten; Cleveland, Akron, Falls Survive Salem Shaffer Ford, Stepanic's Are Last Local Outfits to Drop

Youngstown Skyway Tavern has become the odds-on favorite to cop the Salem Invitational Softball Tournament as it is the only team remaining which has not tasted defeat in the double elimination affair.

Three other teams still in the tourney, Cuyahoga Falls McGowen-Reid, Cleveland Auto Springs and Wheel and Akron Reds Bar, are all hanging on with one loss charged against them. The tournament started with 32 teams.

The final two local entries to be eliminated, Shaffer Ford and Stepanic's Tavern, bowed out of the tourney on Sunday.

Shaffer Ford was bumped off

1-0 in a sizzling 13-inning pitching duel, featuring Rip Fugate of Cleveland Auto Springs and Fats Katich of the local club.

KIRBY LAUGHLIN, former Salem athlete, started things off for Cleveland in the 13th inning with a single to center. Juresko sacrificed him to second and Ray Boguski shot a clutch single to left bringing home Laughlin with the winning run.

Shaffer Ford collected just three hits off Fugate while Cleveland managed eight off Katich, the fireballer from Midland, Pa. Fugate fanned 18 Shaffer Ford batters. Katich didn't have his usual strikeout ball working but he did whiff five Cleveland swingers.

Laughlin collected three of Cleveland's eight hits off Katich. He had a trio of singles in six trips to the plate. D. Hiner, Bruce Feicht and Ferguson divided Shaffer Ford's three hits, all of which were singles.

Greenford Loses Inter-County Grid Tilt

Rugged West Branch Belts United In Turnpike League

West Branch High showed why it is one of the favorites to capture the Turnpike Conference grid title this year when it stormed to a surprisingly easy 38-6 victory over United High Saturday at Hanoverton.

Four other Turnpike Conference teams were in action Saturday against non-loop foes and all but one of them, Warren St. Mary's, came out on the short end of the scores. Salineville creamed Jackson-Milton, 36-6; Beaver Local tripped Springfield Local, 30-12; and Hubbard trampled Canfield, 44-20.

Warren St. Mary's salvaged some prestige for the new conference when it surprised Girard, 8-0.

In a pair of Inter-County League games played Saturday, North Lima came from behind to upset Greenford, 12-8; and powerful Lowellville smashed Western Reserve 38-0.

Fairfield-Waterford showed that it is a team which must be reckoned with in the Inter-County League by virtue of its overwhelming 62-26 victory over Mineral Ridge, an independent club which has been trying to get into the Inter-County loop.

ren St. Mary's a touchdown in the third quarter which turned out to be the only score in its game with Girard. Unless Girard is ready down this season, Warren St. Mary's may be the team which will give West Branch its toughest competition for the Turnpike Conference title.

Lowellville, which is expected to run away with the Inter-County League championship, was no match for Western Reserve, a school which is playing only its second year of varsity football. Tied only by Goshen in nine games last year, Lowellville chalked up two touchdowns in the opening period against Western Reserve and coasted the rest of the way.

Cards Gain Half Game on Bucs

Reds, Giants Split; Dodgers Halt Braves

By The Associated Press

When they hand out the prize for "comeback of the year" in 1960, Curt Simmons should step front and center and take a bow.

Cut lose by the Phillies in June, the veteran left-hander appeared to be all washed up. When the Phils can't use you, things are tough. But Curt shopped around and came up with a job on the St. Louis Cardinal staff which needed a southpaw.

Simmons is one big reason why the Cardinals still are in the National League race with only three weeks to go. He beat his old Philadelphia mates Sunday 7-3 for the fourth straight time.

As a result the Cards gained a half game on Pittsburgh which was rained out of a doubleheader with Chicago. The Pirates still hold a comfortable 6 1/2-game lead on St. Louis and have opened a 7 1/2-game edge on third-place Milwaukee.

Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers dimmed Milwaukee's faint hopes when he shut them out with two hits 2-0. It was his second straight shutout and third in his last four starts.

Gus Bell's home run and Jim O'Toole's pitching gave Cincinnati a first-game victory over San Francisco 2-1 but the Giants came back to take the second 3-2 for Stu Miller on Willie McCovey's 13th homer.

Drysdale allowed only a single by Wes Covington in the fifth and a single by Ed Mathews in the seventh and brought his strikeout total for the season to 222 in 243 innings by fanning seven Braves.

Lew Burdette's hopes of winning 20 for the third straight year suffered a relapse when he was cuffed for his 10th defeat. Burdette, who has won 16, allowed only five singles.

The Giants and Reds had been scheduled for a single game but Saturday's rainout forced them to double up on their last meeting. Bell and O'Toole teamed up on Juan Marichal in the opener. The rookie lost his second game although he gave up only five hits.

The Giants battered Cal McLish and Jim Brosnan for 11 hits in the second game while Miller scattered nine hits, including Wally Post's home run.

Indians Play Patsy For Yanks; Flop Twice

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Lo the poor Indians. If the New York Yankees win the American League pennant they can thank the Cleveland Tribe for their unwilling cooperation.

By sweeping a Sunday doubleheader from Cleveland 5-0 and 3-2 in 11 innings, the front-running Yanks made it nine in a row over the Indians, 16 out of 22 for the year and 11 of their last 12 meetings. No other club in the league, including the Kansas City A's, has been such a patsy.

The Yanks lengthened their lead to one full game over Baltimore despite the Orioles' 4-0 conquest of Kansas City with the help of 40-year-old Dave Philleye. The veteran, acquired from San Francisco about 10 days ago, collected three hits, including a homer, and drove in three runs.

Chicago stuck in there, winning a pair from Boston, 5-3 and 1-0, with coach Tony Cuccinello doing the managing instead of ailing Al Lopez who was suffering from a virus infection. Billy Pierce needed help to hold the opener safe but Early Wynn went all the way with a six-hit shutout in the second game.

Harmon Killebrew hit three home duns for Washington but Detroit grabbed both ends from the Senators 8-3 and 8-5. Killebrew had one homer, and a single and double in the first game and drove in all of Washington's runs in the second game.

Ralph Terry pitched the first game for the Yanks at Cleveland, turning in a neat five hitter while N.J.

Hector Lopez and Roger Maris slammed home runs off Jim Perry.

Mickey Mantle's 34th home run won the second game in the 11th after each club scored once in the 10th.

Fine relief pitching by Mike Garcia and Frank Baumann helped Pierce in the opener as a first Boston after Chicago jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first two innings.

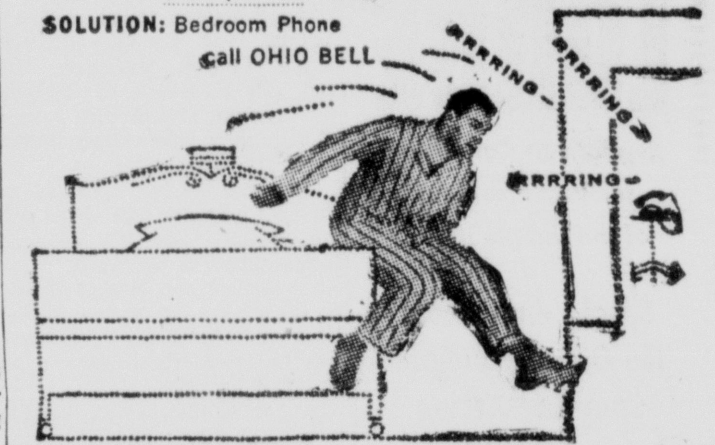

Frank Lary struggled out of a pitching slump and ended a six-game Detroit losing streak in the opener with Washington. Dick Gernert, newly acquired first baseman, drove in two runs that brought the Tigers from behind. Al Kaline hit a grand slam home run in the second game.

St. Louis Bowlers Lead in Nationals

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray Bluth and Dick Weber of St. Louis, setting a qualifying record, led eight teams into the finals today of the National Men's Doubles Bowling Tournament.

Bluth and Weber posted an aggregate total of 10,234 for 48 games. They finished 85 pins ahead of Billy Welu and Harry Smith of St. Louis, who also broke the old mark with 10,149.

In third place were Carmen Salvino and Bill Bunetta of Chicago with 10,083, also topping the 1958 record of 10,029 set by Carl Richard and Steve Nagy of St. Louis in 1958 at Mountaineer, N.J.

Five World Records Broken In Olympics

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
ROME (AP)—Olympic athletes streamed out of Rome today leaving the world's sports fans wondering just how fabulous the records will be when they reassemble in Tokyo for the 1964 games.

Track and field stars smashed five world records and tied another four. Twenty nine Olympic records went into the books. How much better can the records get? How much faster can the boys and girls run?

Livio Berutti, Italian winner of the 200 meter sprint, thinks it's impossible to put a peak on athletic endeavors.

"It's a question of the development of the whole human race," the Italian sprinter said. "Men get bigger, fitter and medical research helps to improve the times and distances that men jump."

Larry Snyder, chief coach of the American track and field team, saw it this way: "People are in better health, they get better food. They grow bigger and bigger. The world's track coaches and officials help each other to develop new ideas and techniques."

"It would be a brave man who would say it's going to end at a certain point. We just don't know how much further we're going to go."

All this talk left the experts wondering if world times like Herb Elliott's 3:35.6 for the 1,500 meters will still be on the books when Tokyo comes round.

Elliott himself is doubtful. He thinks that in time a 3:50 mile is possible. And a 3:50.0 mile would drop the 1,500 meters record several digits lower.

About 8,000 athletes from 87 countries came to Rome for the games Aug. 25. Some started trickling out of the Eternal City even before Sunday's closing ceremony.

A few minutes earlier the German horse riding team of Hans Winkler, Alwin Schockemohle and Fritz Thiedemann had successfully defended the team title won by Germany in 1956.

The scarlet-coated Germans won the gold medal with a team score of 47 1/2 penalty points.

The American squad of George Morris, New Canaan, Conn., Frank Chapot, Wallpack, N.J., and Bill Stenka, Westport, Conn., came second with a score of 66 penalty points. Italy finished third with 80 1/2 points.

That was the last event on the Olympic program that ended with the Soviet Union the dominant sports nation of the world.

The Soviets won 43 gold medals, 28 silver and 31 bronze for an unofficial points score of 807 1/2, based on 10 for first place, 5 for second, 4 for third, etc.

The United States took 34 gold medals, 21 silver and 16 bronze for a second place points score of 564 1/2.

KILLED IN CYCLE RACE
JARVIS, Ont. (AP)—Blair Paterson of Chardon, Ohio, was killed Sunday when he was bounced from his motorcycle in a crowded high-speed turn at Harewood Acres racing strip near here. Paterson, who was running practice laps for the Indian Summer Trophy races, was run over by another motorcycle after he fell from his own.

Aussies Tangle For Tennis Title

Match Rescheduled After Sunday Rainout

FOREST HILL, N. Y. (AP)—Neale Fraser was out to erase the big one blotch on his 1960 record today when he meets Rod Laver for the U.S. Amateur Tennis Championship.

It was the sober-faced Laver who won the Australian National Championship from Fraser back in January. For the two Aussies, this was the big one, bigger than Wimbledon or the U.S. National.

Fraser came back to win at Wimbledon after Butch Buchholz leg gave way in a quarter final. Buchholz was forced to default after leading Fraser 2 sets to 1.

After that, Fraser went on his way and toured Europe, winning some and losing some. But none of the tournaments were particularly important to him.

Laver, meanwhile, headed for the United States. He still hasn't been beaten this summer.

The National title match was postponed Sunday when a heavy rain fell on the West Side Tennis Club. The rain also set back the women's singles championship between Maria Bueno of Brazil, the defender, and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., who at No. 4 was the highest seeded American.

Chargers, Oilers Cop AFL Opening Games

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bootin' Ben Agajanian, 40, a journeyman pro who kicks 'em through the uprights with only one toe, has reactivated his career as one of the veteran retradees playing prominent roles in the new American Football League.

The former New Mexico standout, who has the brine-toughened stump of his right foot encased in a special shoe for his kicking chores, booted the Los Angeles Chargers to a 21-20 victory over the Dallas Texans in the key clash on the AFL's inaugural weekend program.

It was Agajanian's third conversion with 2:15 remaining that gave the Chargers, Western Division pre-season favorites, a successful opening.

In other AFL regular season debuts, the Houston Oilers beat the Oakland Raiders, 37-22, and the New York Titans rapped Buffalo's Bills, 27-3.

In the National League—where the regular season opens Sept. 23—Bobby Mitchell barreled 11 and 64 yards for touchdowns in Cleveland's 16-10 exhibition triumph over the Chicago Bears. Nick Pietrosante dived over from the 1-yard line in the fourth quarter as Detroit tied New York's Eastern Division champs, 16-16. Green Bay edged the Dallas Cowboys, 28-23, on a last quarter 12-yard pass from Bart Starr to Paul Hornung.

The struggle between the Chargers and Texans revolved around a missed extra point by Dallas' Jack Spikes. The Chargers trailing 20-7 in the fourth quarter, tied it on a 7-yard touchdown run by quarterback Jack Kemp and his 4-yard TD toss to Howie Ferguson. Agajanian then booted the clincher.

George Blanda, 32-year-old NFL veteran, passed for four touchdowns—including the go-ahead 3-yarder to Johnny Carson in the third period—kicked four conversions and a field goal for Houston. Buffalo took a 3-0 lead over New York in the opening period on Darrell Harper's field goal, but that was it for the Bills. The first of Bill Shockley's two field goals and touchdown runs of 2 and 15 yards by quarterback Al Dorow put the Titans out of reach.
